PARTICIPATE WITH PLANKTOS

Planktos provides opportunities to participate, collaborate, and sponsor our efforts and projects.

Several means are available for corporations and individuals.

While we are not a membership organization we do welcome and accommodate individuals who want to participate.

We are also seeking the donation of marine equipment including small vessels for use in our research. IRS qualified charitable donations can be arranged to provide added value to the donor.

Corporate sponsors are also invited to participate in the work of Planktos. We can help to arrange attractive packages including R&D tax credits and forms of Eco-Asset commodities as a benefit to contributing corporations to help maximize the value of corporate sponsorship.

Owners and operators of vessels at sea may participate with Planktos

Our outreach ocean science program is now underway and we are accepting applications from owners and operators of vessels that regularly are at sea or yachts making occasional ocean crossings.

We can help equip your vessel with modern ocean science equipment that will gather very valuable data and link that data with our own growing data resource.

Suitable vessels include fishing vessels (large and small), commercial transport vessels, cruise ships, and private yachts.

From time to time we will be interested in chartering vessels for use in our at sea research projects. It may be possible for your vessel to earn valuable tax benefits by contributing to our programs.

If you have what you think is a suitable vessel and an interest in helping to understand the ocean environment please contact us and ask for details on our participation program at:
