George,

What do you mean by "reproduce"?

Thanks,
Steven

I'm going to mention the new Widom-Larsen paper in my March 10 issue. Would you be so kind as to offer a comment or two? It seems to be favorably supportive of your work.

Best regards,
Steven

Hi Steven - I need time to study it, However, at first look, it seems to reproduce some of my reaction product data amazingly well. Testing against experimental data is an essential step that any serious theory in this field must face up to, but very few have to date.

Steven - maybe I should have said that his theory agrees with the distinctive multi-peak reaction product data from my experiments amazingly well.
